

RIDGE TERRAIN

Area Shaded in Purple is Ridge Terrain within the Ski Area Boundary
Avalanche Transceiver Required
Partner and Shovel Strongly Recommended

WARNING

Ridge Terrain is expert terrain containing numerous steep chutes, which may end in unmarked cliffs.

Ski and Ride with Caution

No Easy Way Down, No Hazard Marking,
No Grooming, No Marked Trails

SKI AREA BOUNDARY NOTICE

Ski Area Boundaries are Closed Except at Designated Forest Service Backcountry Gates and Access Zones

- Forest Service Backcountry Access Zone
- Closed Boundary

DANGER

Avalanche Danger and Other Life Threatening Hazards Exist Beyond the Ski Area Boundary.

If You Choose to Leave the Ski Area Boundary You are Solely Responsible for Your Safety and Welfare.

No Ski Patrol Services or Avalanche Hazard Reduction Rescue by Gallatin County Search and Rescue - Call 911
Rescue may be Prolonged - Be Prepared to Survive the Night

SLOW AREA

Yellow shaded areas on the lower mountain indicate slow speed zones.

GO FAST - LOSE PASS

TERRAIN PARK

Proper use of Freestyle Terrain and Features is important. Prior to using Freestyle Terrain, you are responsible for familiarizing yourself with terrain features and obeying all instructions, warnings and signs. Freestyle skills require maintaining control on the ground and in the air. Play it safe when you use the park.

Easiest
More Difficult
Most Difficult
Expert Only
Road

The grading of trails for difficulty is relative only to the trails at Bridger Bowl. Degree of difficulty can vary with changing snow and weather conditions. Please read back of map for Notice of Inherent Risk and Skier Responsibility Code.

Gallatin National Forest

- T Ticket Sales
- + Ski Patrol
- R Ski Rental
- Snowsports School
- PlayCare
- Restaurant
- Restrooms
- Backcountry Access Gate