Red Course: Classic Technique Competition Ski Course

This is a map of a nested set of competition ski trails that includes; 2.5 km course, 3.3 km course, 3.75 km course and a 5.0 km course. The shorter courses are subsets of the 5.0 km course. This concept is key to understanding the flow of these ski trails.

All courses or portions thereof can be safely skied in a clockwise direction. However, there are steep up hills and down hills some with technical corners so ski with caution. Portions of these trails will be skiable for most club skiers but in general they are not appropriate for beginner skiers.

Intermediate skiers should ski with caution until fully familiar with the difficulty levels. It doesn't matter what portion of what course you are on as long as you ski in the proper direction.
