

New Terrain Now Open

Mount Haig is now open! This NEW lift serviced, intermediate and novice terrain is a perfect compliment to the existing challenging terrain at the Castle. There are 6 main runs that include an easy novice run, Buffalo Flats, to the west and progress to Sidewinder, a strong intermediate run on the east. Anyone that found the past 40 years a little challenging at the Castle can now enjoy the beauty of the new mountain, and the fun of skiing and snowboarding, with the new terrain now available on Mount Haig.

The new Huckleberry Chair will rise 330.5 meters accessing about 27 hectares of tree-lined runs. The average slope is 17-27 degrees, and the longest run is about 2kms long. Haigs northeast facing slopes ensure that plenty of natural snow will await you on these relaxed cruising runs. And, for the more adventurous, advanced skiers and riders there is well over 650 hectares of back country touring and extreme terrain.

Come experience the NEW Castle ~ something for everyone!

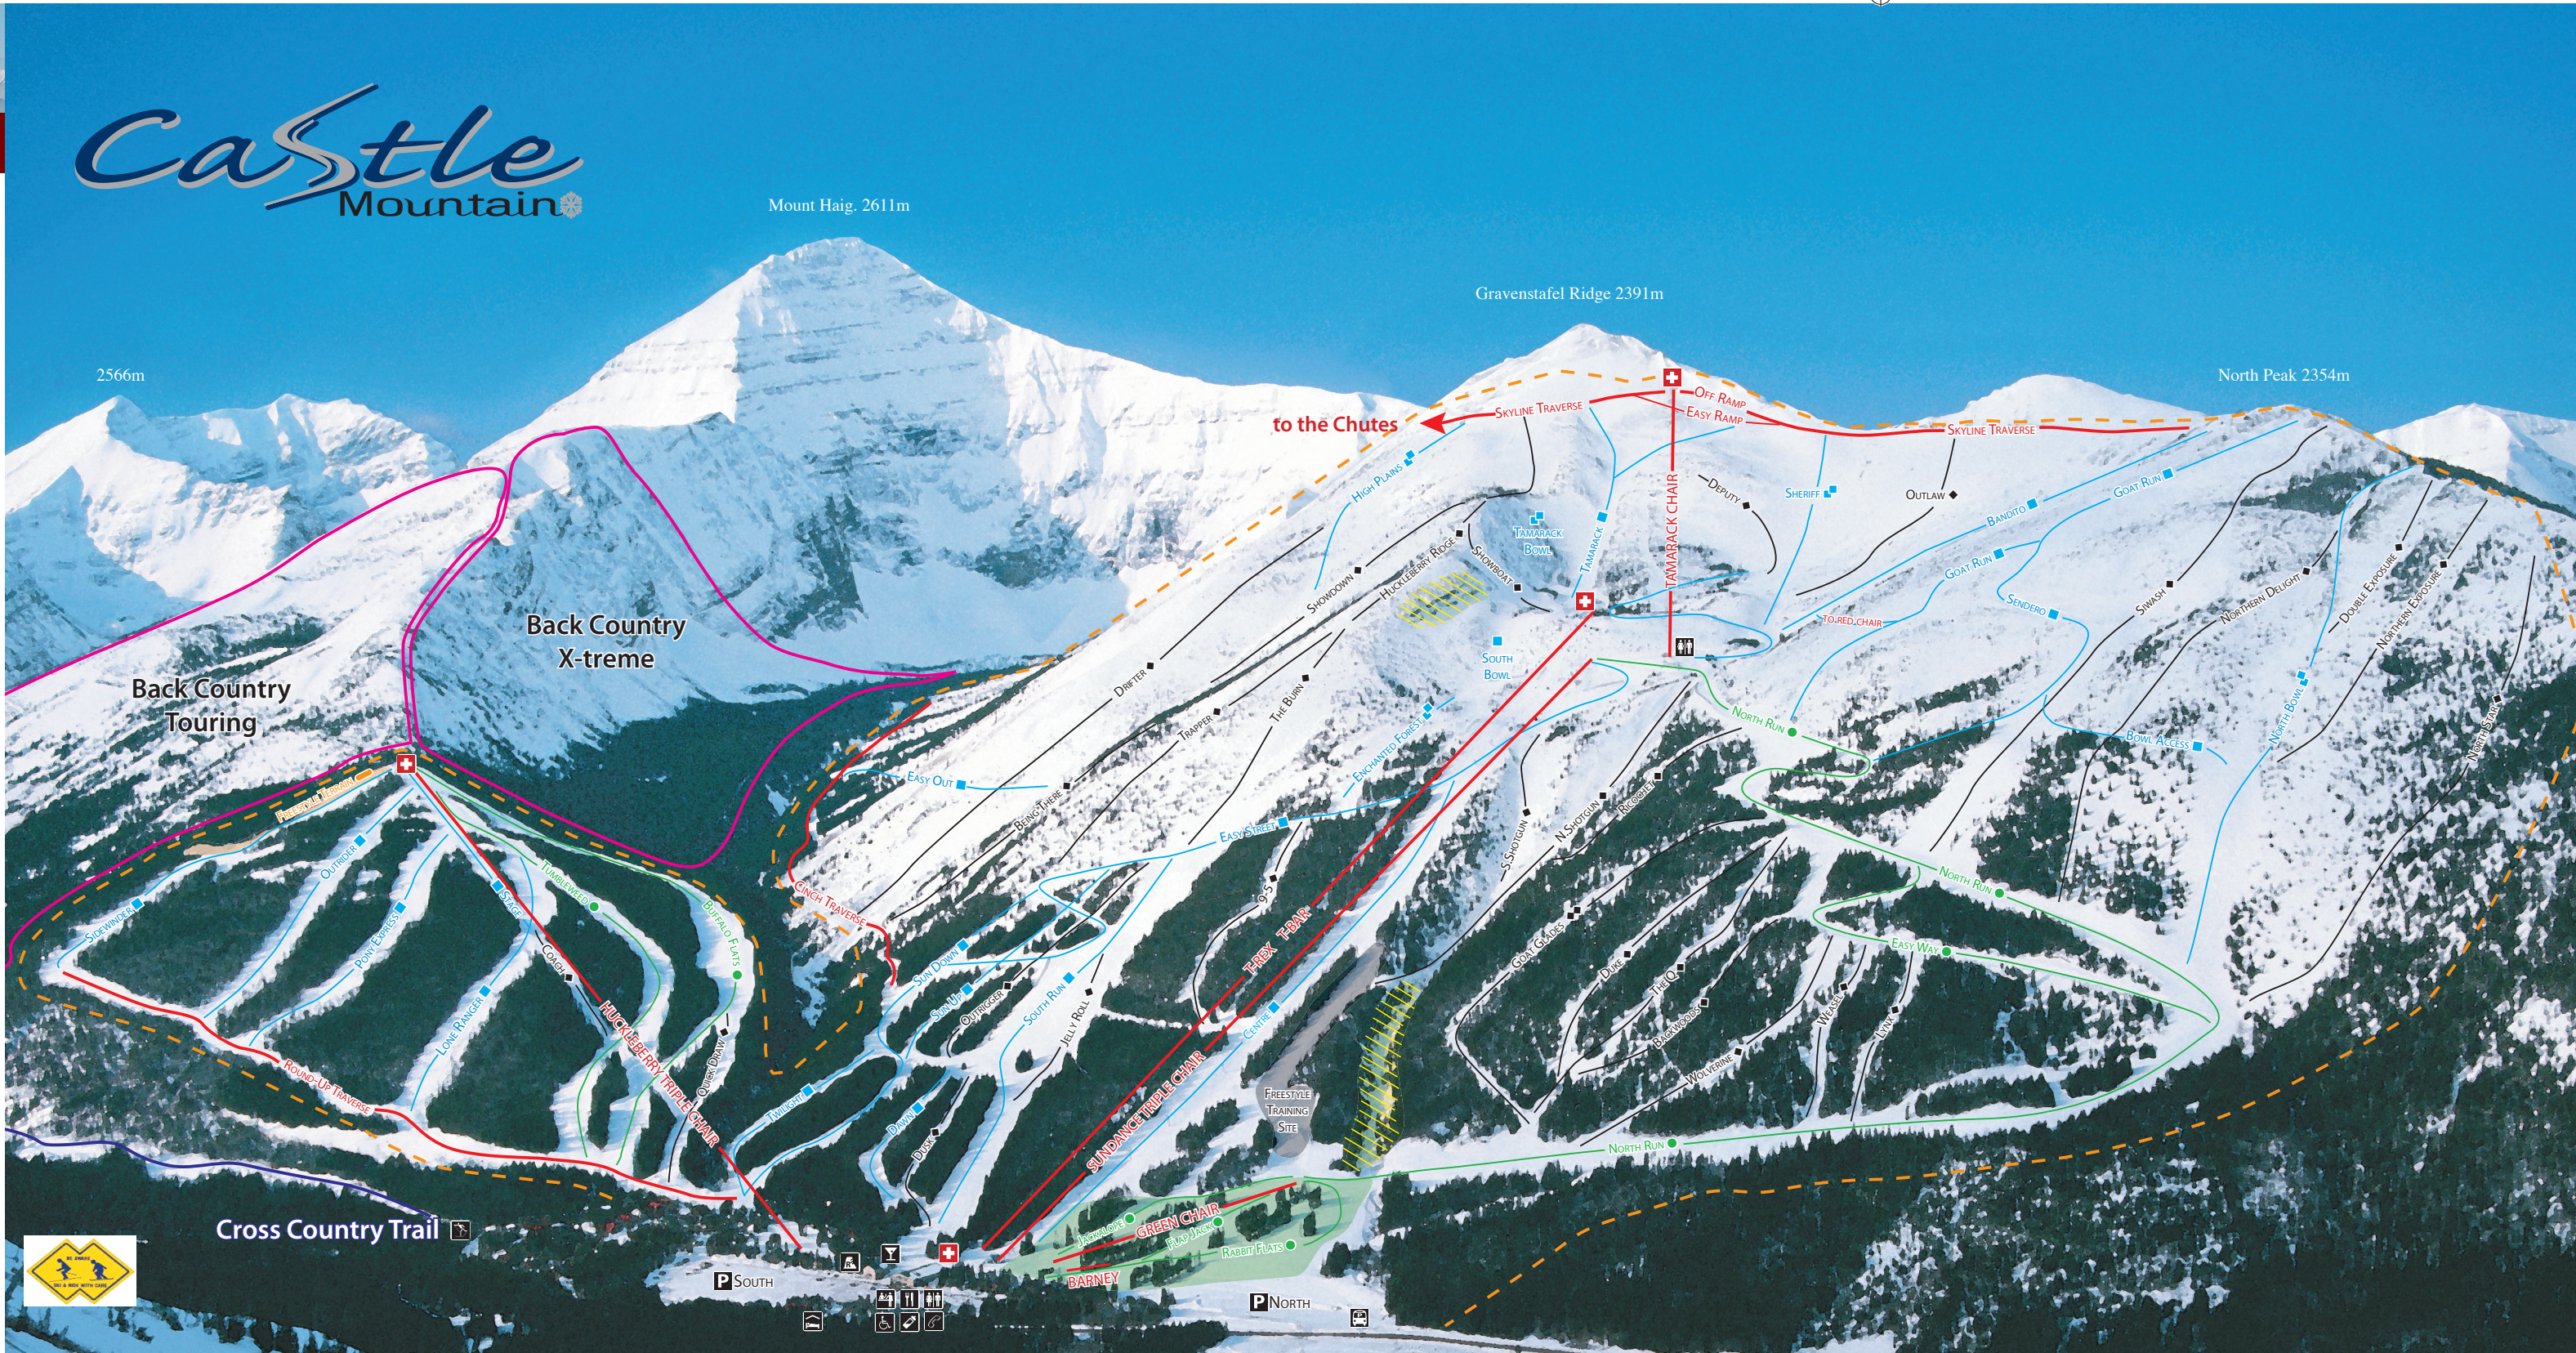

Freestyle Terrain

The Castle has often been compared to one large Terrain Park thanks to Mother Natures features and ever-changing snow patterns. New in 2006/07 is the Freestyle Terrain for advanced skiing and snowboarding enthusiast that like to hit big jumps and ride rails. Located on Mount Haig off of Sidewinder. This terrain will be for advanced skiers and riders and will provide even more excitement to the Castle.

Back Country Touring and Extreme Area Disclaimer

Ascending and descending back country touring and extreme terrain is inherently dangerous and should only be undertaken by persons with adequate knowledge and understanding of avalanche conditions, first aid, life support and high angle rescue. Castle Mountain Resort DOES NOT, in any way, condone or promote these endeavors and should you pursue back country or extreme ascents and descents, remember you are outside the ski area boundary. There is no direct rescue available and should you require a rescue, you may be required to pay rescue fees and/or other related costs.
