- (2) A skier:
 - (a) shall know the range of the skier's ability and safely ski within the limits of that ability and the skier's equipment so as to negotiate any section of terrain or ski slope and trail safely and without injury or damage. Glading /Fuel Reduction Project

This cooperative effort between Red Lodge Mountain Resort, the U.S. Forest Service, and the Beartooth Resource and Conservation District will open the forest canopy through the selective removal of trees, including standing dead trees. In addition to allowing the resort's timber stands to better resist the destructive effects of pine beetles and other invasive insects, the thinning will reduce fuel loads to better withstand forest fire, while creating new skiable terrain.

The project will take several years to fully complete, and is taking place on both private Red Lodge Mountain Resort land and U.S. Forest Service land.

- (d) Shall obey all posted or other warnings and instructions of the ski area operator; and
 - (e) Shall read the ski area trail map and must be aware of its contents.
- (3) A person may not:
- (a) Place an object in the ski area or on the uphill track of a passenger ropeway that may cause a passenger or skier to fall;
 - (b) Cross the track of a passenger ropeway except at a designated and approved point; or
 - (c) If involved in a skiing accident, depart from the scene of the accident without:
 - (i) Leaving personal identification; or
 - (ii) Notifying the proper authorities and obtaining assistance when the person knows that a person involved in the accident is in need of medical or other assistance.
- (4) A skier shall accept all legal responsibility for injury or damage of any kind to the extent that the injury or damage results from inherent dangers and risks of skiing. Nothing in this part may be construed to limit a skier's right to hold another skier legally accountable for damages caused by the other skier.
